LITERATURE REVIEW

The literature review provides an understanding of Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC), its importance, and its application in the motorcycle industry, specifically for lifestyle brands like Royal Enfield.

1. Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) Concept:
   IMC is the strategic coordination of all promotional tools to provide a consistent message across all channels (Belch & Belch, 2018). Effective IMC ensures brand consistency, stronger engagement, and higher ROI.

2. Importance of IMC in Consumer Behavior:
   According to Kotler & Keller (2016), IMC influences consumer awareness, preference, and loyalty by integrating advertising, sales promotion, public relations, personal selling, and digital marketing.

3. Role of Emotional Branding:
   Shimp (2017) emphasizes that emotional appeals in IMC campaigns create stronger consumer attachment and drive higher engagement, which is critical for lifestyle brands like Royal Enfield.

4. IMC in the Motorcycle Industry:
   Studies reveal that brand heritage, community, and storytelling significantly impact purchase decisions in the motorcycle segment (Fill & Turnbull, 2019). Premium brands rely on experiential marketing, social media engagement, and rider communities to differentiate themselves.

5. Digital and Experiential Tools:
   Research shows that digital platforms, influencer marketing, and events are now major drivers for IMC campaigns, especially among young, urban consumers who seek lifestyle experiences rather than just functional benefits.

Summary:
The literature highlights that for brands like Royal Enfield, a well-integrated, emotionally-driven, and digitally-focused IMC plan is essential to strengthen brand positioning, build loyalty, and increase sales. This theoretical foundation supports the practical recommendations and campaign design in this project.

SYNOPSIS

Title of the Project:

A Study on Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) Strategy of Royal Enfield

Introduction

Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) plays a vital role in building strong brands by delivering a consistent and unified message across all promotional platforms. In the highly competitive two-wheeler industry, effective IMC strategies help brands differentiate themselves and influence consumer purchase decisions. Royal Enfield, known for its heritage and lifestyle positioning, relies heavily on emotional branding and experiential marketing to maintain its leadership in the mid-size motorcycle segment.

Objectives of the Study

The main objectives of this project are:

- To study the concept and importance of Integrated Marketing Communication
- To analyze the brand positioning and USP of Royal Enfield
- To understand the target market and consumer behavior
- To evaluate the existing IMC strategies of Royal Enfield
- To design an effective IMC plan for improving sales performance

Research Methodology

The study is based on secondary data collected from:

- Company websites and annual reports
- Marketing and IMC textbooks
- Research articles, newspapers, and online sources

The analysis follows established marketing frameworks such as SWOT analysis, AIDA model, and IMC planning tools.

Scope of the Study

The scope of the study is limited to:

- Royal Enfield's marketing communication strategies in India
- The mid-size motorcycle segment
- Consumer perception and lifestyle-based branding

The study does not include financial auditing or primary survey analysis.

Findings and Analysis

The study reveals that Royal Enfield has a strong emotional connect with consumers due to its heritage, community-based marketing, and experiential campaigns. Digital media, influencer marketing, and rider events play a key role in engaging young consumers. The brand's USP of offering an authentic riding experience gives it a strong competitive advantage.

Recommendations

The project suggests strengthening digital IMC tools, enhancing experiential marketing, integrating dealer-level communication, and using objective-based budgeting to improve sales conversion and long-term brand loyalty.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This project is an Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) plan developed for Royal Enfield, focusing on strengthening its brand positioning and consumer engagement in the highly competitive mid-size motorcycle segment in India. The study aims to analyze the brand's current market situation and design an effective IMC strategy that aligns with its heritage-driven and lifestyle-oriented positioning.

WHAT I KNOW

Royal Enfield is one of the oldest motorcycle brands in the world and holds a dominant position in the Indian mid-size motorcycle segment. The brand is known for its strong heritage, loyal customer base, and community-driven marketing approach. Royal Enfield does not compete primarily on speed or fuel efficiency but on emotion, lifestyle, and riding experience.

WHAT I SOUGHT

The objective of this study was to:

- Understand Royal Enfield's current market position and consumer perception
- Analyze its target market, competition, and environmental influences
- Identify the brand's USP and positioning
- Design a comprehensive IMC plan including objectives, creative strategy, media mix, budget, and evaluation
- Recommend an integrated promotional strategy that can strengthen brand recall, engagement, and sales

WHAT I FOUND

The analysis revealed that:

- Royal Enfield enjoys very high brand loyalty and emotional attachment among consumers
- The brand's biggest strength lies in its heritage, community, and lifestyle positioning, which competitors find difficult to replicate
- The target audience values experience, freedom, and individuality more than technical specifications
- Digital media, influencer marketing, and experiential events are the most effective tools for engaging the younger audience

- A well-integrated IMC strategy following the AIDA model can successfully guide consumers from awareness to purchase

WHAT I LEARNED / MAJOR RECOMMENDATIONS

Based on the analysis, the following recommendations are proposed:

- Focus on emotional storytelling through a unified campaign theme: "Every Ride Has a Story"
- Strengthen digital and social media presence to engage young riders
- Leverage community rides, sponsorships, and experiential marketing to build long-term loyalty
- Integrate ATL and BTL activities to ensure consistent brand communication across all touchpoints

Total Cost of the Proposed IMC Plan (Indicative):

The proposed IMC plan recommends allocating approximately 5–7% of annual sales revenue towards promotional activities, distributed across advertising, digital marketing, sales promotions, events, PR, and dealer-level communication. The objective and task method is suggested as the most effective budgeting approach to ensure measurable outcomes and efficient resource utilization.

SITUATION ANALYSIS

Situation analysis helps in understanding the current position of Royal Enfield in the market by evaluating its history, environment, brand strength, competition, and consumer behaviour. This analysis forms the foundation for developing effective marketing and IMC strategies.

Company and Product History:

- Product Background (First Phase)

Royal Enfield is the oldest motorcycle brand in continuous production, with its origins dating back to 1901 in Redditch, England. Initially known for manufacturing bicycles and military equipment, the company later entered the motorcycle segment.

In 1955, Royal Enfield established its Indian operations through a partnership with Madras Motors, leading to the formation of Enfield India. The brand gained prominence when the Indian Army adopted the Royal Enfield Bullet for border patrols due to its durability and reliability.

Over time, Royal Enfield transitioned from a utilitarian motorcycle to a lifestyle and heritage brand, maintaining its classic design while incorporating modern technology. Today, under Eicher Motors Limited, Royal Enfield dominates the mid-size motorcycle segment (250cc–750cc) in India and abroad.

- Past Advertising Themes

Royal Enfield's advertising has always focused on emotion rather than specifications. Major themes include:

- "Made Like a Gun" – Highlighting strength, durability, and military heritage
- Adventure & Exploration – Campaigns around Himalayan rides, Ladakh journeys, and long-distance touring
- Brotherhood & Community – Rider Mania, Himalayan Odyssey, and owner clubs
- Heritage & Nostalgia – Emphasizing legacy, timeless design, and tradition
- Individualism & Freedom – Encouraging self-expression and personal journeys

Unlike competitors, Royal Enfield rarely promotes speed or mileage; instead, it sells a lifestyle and experience.

- Significant Environmental Influences

Governmental / Legal Influences

- Emission Norms (BS-VI): Royal Enfield successfully transitioned all models to BS-VI emission standards, increasing production costs but improving environmental compliance.

- Noise Pollution Regulations: Crackdown on loud aftermarket exhausts affected the brand's iconic "thump" perception.
- Safety & Quality Standards: Compliance with ISO environmental standards and product safety regulations.

Social Influences

- Rising Environmental Awareness: Consumers now prefer cleaner and fuel-efficient engines.
- Changing Consumer Expectations: Demand for modern features like navigation, connectivity, and refined engines.
- Youth & Adventure Culture: Growing interest in biking culture, touring, and social media riding communities.

➢ Current Brand SWOT Analysis

Strengths

- Strong brand heritage and legacy
- Loyal customer community
- Iconic design and sound
- Dominant position in the 350cc–650cc segment

Weaknesses

- Heavy weight of motorcycles
- Lower mileage compared to competitors
- Limited high-tech features in some models

Opportunities

- Expansion in global markets
- Growth in adventure and touring segment
- Electric and hybrid motorcycle potential
- Increasing youth adoption

Threats

- Rising competition (Honda, Jawa, Harley-Davidson)
- Strict environmental regulations
- Growing preference for lightweight and electric bikes

➢ 1.1.5 Relevant Marketing Data (First Phase)

- Royal Enfield commands over 85% market share in India's mid-size motorcycle segment
- Strong sales growth in models like Classic 350, Meteor 350, Hunter 350
- Presence in 50+ countries with growing international demand
- Consistently outsells premium competitors like Harley-Davidson globally

PRODUCT EVALUATION:

➢ Comparison with CompetitionRoyal Enfield operates in the mid-size motorcycle segment and faces competition from both direct and indirect competitors. Each competitor differs in positioning, target audience, and value proposition.

✓ Direct Competitors:

- Honda H'ness CB350: Honda H'ness CB350 competes directly with Royal Enfield's 350cc models. It is positioned as a modern-retro motorcycle focusing on refinement, smooth engine performance, and advanced features. While Honda scores higher on mileage and technology, it lacks Royal Enfield's strong heritage, emotional appeal, and rider community.

Img:1

- Jawa & Yezdi: Jawa and Yezdi target nostalgic and style-conscious riders with retro design and competitive pricing. These brands offer lighter motorcycles and modern looks but face challenges related to service consistency and long-term reliability. Royal Enfield enjoys higher trust, stronger brand loyalty, and a well-established service network.

Img:2

- Harley-Davidson X440: The Harley-Davidson X440 is positioned as an affordable premium cruiser. It attracts aspirational buyers due to its global brand image and powerful engine. However, it is priced higher and lacks the deep-rooted heritage and large riding community that Royal Enfield offers in India.

Img:3

✓ Indirect Competitors

- Bajaj Dominar: Bajaj Dominar focuses on performance and touring capability. It appeals to riders seeking power and speed but does not offer the lifestyle, heritage, and emotional connection associated with Royal Enfield.

Img:4

- KTM Adventure: KTM Adventure bikes target performance-oriented and off-road enthusiasts. While technologically advanced and lightweight, they appeal to a niche audience, unlike Royal Enfield's broader lifestyle-oriented appeal.

Img:5

- Hero Xpulse: Hero Xpulse is an entry-level adventure motorcycle known for affordability and ease of handling. It attracts beginners, whereas Royal Enfield targets aspirational riders seeking premium adventure and touring experiences.

Img:6

| Aspect | Royal Enfield | Honda / Jawa | Harley-Davidson |
|---|---|---|---|
| Brand Image | Heritage & Lifestyle | Refined & Modern | Premium & Niche |
| Marketing Theme | Storytelling & Community | Performance & Features | Exclusivity |
| Customer Perception | Emotional & Loyal | Practical & Reliable | Aspirational |
| Product Feel | Heavy, classic | Smooth, light | Premium cruiser |

➢ Consumer Perceptions and Satisfaction

Consumers perceive Royal Enfield as:

- A status symbol
- A lifestyle brand
- Ideal for long rides and touring

High satisfaction comes from:

- Brand legacy
- Riding comfort
- Community experience

Concerns include:

- Mileage
- Heat and vibration (older models)

➢ Retailer Perceptions

Retailers view Royal Enfield as:

- A high-demand brand
- Easy to sell due to strong brand pull
- Benefiting from strong after-sales service and accessories sales

➢ Distribution

- Extensive dealership network across India
- Global presence through exclusive brand stores
- Online booking and customization options
- Strong after-sales and service infrastructure

CONSUMER EVALUATION:

➢ Demographic Profile

- Age: 21–45 years
- Gender: Predominantly male (increasing female riders)
- Occupation: Students, professionals, entrepreneurs, defense personnel
- Education: Graduate and above
- Marital Status: Both single and married

➢ Psychographic Profile (VALS)

- Values: Freedom, individuality, adventure
- Lifestyle: Travel-oriented, social, community-driven
- Personality: Independent, bold, nostalgic
- Motivation: Experience over performance

➢ Behavioural Profile

- Usage: Daily commute, touring, leisure riding
- Consumption Level: Medium to high
- Brand Loyalty: Very high
- Attitude: Emotional attachment and pride of ownership

CAUSES OF THE DOWNFALL OF ROYAL ENFIELD

Royal Enfield, once a prestigious motorcycle brand in India, experienced a significant decline from the late 1960s to the early 2000s due to a mix of internal inefficiencies and external market pressures.

1. Outdated Technology and Product Design

Royal Enfield continued using old British-era engine and chassis technology for decades.

- Poor fuel efficiency
- Excessive vibration and oil leakage
- Frequent mechanical issues
- Lack of technological upgrades

As competitors adopted modern, lighter, and more efficient technology, Royal Enfield failed to keep pace.

Img:7

2. Rising Competition from Japanese and Indian Manufacturers

During the 1980s and 1990s, brands such as Hero Honda, Bajaj, Yamaha, and Suzuki dominated the market.

- Better mileage
- Lower maintenance costs
- Higher reliability
- Competitive pricing

Royal Enfield's heavy motorcycles were unsuitable for daily commuting, causing loss of market share.

3. Poor Quality Control and Reliability Issues

- Inconsistent manufacturing quality
- Frequent servicing requirements
- Limited service centers
- Long repair times

This reduced customer confidence, especially among middle-class consumers.

4. Weak Marketing and Brand Positioning

- Lack of clear target audience
- Minimal advertising efforts
- Overdependence on government and military orders

- Poor engagement with younger consumers

The brand was perceived as outdated and irrelevant.

5. High Production Costs and Inefficient Operations

- Low production volumes
- Manual manufacturing processes
- Outdated machinery
- High cost per unit

This resulted in uncompetitive pricing without added value.

6. Narrow Product Portfolio

- Heavy dependence on the Bullet model
- No diversification into commuter or scooter segments
- Late introduction of new variants

This made the company vulnerable to declining Bullet sales

7. Changing Consumer Preferences

Indian consumers increasingly preferred motorcycles that were:

- Fuel-efficient
- Lightweight
- Low-maintenance
- Modern in design

Royal Enfield failed to adapt to these shifts.

8. Financial and Ownership Challenges

Before Eicher Motors' acquisition in 1994, Royal Enfield faced:

- Continuous financial losses
- Poor strategic leadership
- Reduced investment in R&D

Conclusion

Royal Enfield's downfall was caused by technological stagnation, weak marketing, rising competition, and inability to adapt to changing consumer needs. The brand lost relevance until strategic intervention revived it later.

TURNAROUND AND GROWTH PHASE OF ROYAL ENFIELD

Royal Enfield's turnaround is one of the most notable revival stories in the Indian automobile industry. The transformation began after its acquisition by Eicher Motors and gained momentum after 2009.

1. Acquisition by Eicher Motors (1994)

- Provided financial stability
- Introduced professional management
- Focused on long-term brand building

This acquisition laid the foundation for revival.

Img:8

2. Clear Strategic Positioning

Royal Enfield repositioned itself as a lifestyle and leisure motorcycle brand rather than a mass commuter brand.

- Emphasis on freedom, adventure, and heritage
- Leveraged its iconic British legacy

This created a distinct identity in the market.

3. Product Modernization

Key technological improvements included:

- Introduction of Unit Construction Engine (UCE) in 2009
- Improved reliability and performance
- Compliance with emission norms

New models such as Classic 350, Thunderbird, Continental GT, and Himalayan expanded the product range.

4. Manufacturing and Quality Improvements

- Modern manufacturing plants in Tamil Nadu
- Lean production systems
- Better quality control
- Reduced waiting periods

These steps improved customer satisfaction.

5. Emotional Branding and Community Building

- Storytelling-based advertising

- Rider communities and events
- Focus on experiences rather than discounts

Customers developed a strong emotional connection with the brand.

6. Focus on Premium Mid-Size Segment

- Avoided mass-market competition
- Positioned products as affordable luxury
- Targeted urban youth and professionals

Royal Enfield created and dominated a new market segment.

7. Expansion of Dealership and Service Network

- Growth into Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities
- Improved service quality and spare availability

This supported sustained sales growth.

8. Global Expansion

- Entry into Europe, USA, and other international markets
- Compliance with global safety and emission standards

Royal Enfield emerged as a global mid-size motorcycle brand.

9. Leadership and Vision

Under leadership such as Siddhartha Lal:

- Focus on long-term strategy
- Strong investment in design and R&D
- Customer-centric approach

Conclusion

Royal Enfield's turnaround was driven by strategic clarity, product modernization, emotional branding, and disciplined execution. By creating a lifestyle-focused segment, the company converted its legacy into a competitive advantage.

IMC PLAN: TARGET MARKET SPECIFICATION

For the proposed Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) campaign, Royal Enfield focuses on a sub-segment of its broader customer base. The campaign is designed to strengthen Royal Enfield's position as a lifestyle and adventure-oriented motorcycle brand among young and emerging riders.

1. Target Market Definition

The campaign primarily targets urban and semi-urban young adults who aspire to own a premium yet accessible lifestyle motorcycle that represents freedom, individuality, and adventure.

2. Demographic Profile

- Age Group: 22 – 35 years
- Gender: Predominantly male (with increasing female riders)
- Education: Graduate / Postgraduate
- Occupation:
    - Young professionals
    - Corporate employees
    - Entrepreneurs
    - College final-year students
- Income Level: Middle to upper-middle income group
- Marital Status: Single and newly married

3. Psychographic Profile

- Values:
    - Freedom and independence
    - Self-expression
    - Adventure and exploration
- Lifestyle:
    - Travel and road trips
    - Active on social media
    - Influenced by digital content and communities
- Personality Traits:
    - Confident and bold

- Emotionally driven
- Nostalgia-loving but modern

- Attitudes:
  - Prefer experiences over material possessions
  - Seek authenticity and brand stories

4. Behavioural Profile

- Usage Rate: Medium to heavy users
- Usage Situation:
  - Daily commuting
  - Weekend leisure rides
  - Long-distance touring
- Brand Loyalty:
  - High loyalty once purchased
  - Strong emotional attachment to the brand
- Attitude Toward Product:
  - Proud ownership
  - Brand advocacy through social media and riding communities

5. Buying Situation Analysis

➢ Purchase Occasion

- First premium motorcycle purchase
- Career milestone (first job / promotion)
- Lifestyle upgrade from commuter bikes
- Festival seasons (Diwali, Dussehra)
- Special sales events and limited editions

➢ Benefits Sought

- Emotional Benefits:
  - Sense of belonging to a riding community
  - Pride of ownership
  - Personal identity and status
- Functional Benefits:

- Strong build quality
- Comfortable riding posture
- Reliability for long rides

- Symbolic Benefits:
  - Heritage and legacy
  - Adventure lifestyle
  - Social recognition

Conclusion (IMC Target Focus)

The IMC campaign is designed to connect with emotionally driven, experience-seeking consumers who view Royal Enfield not just as a motorcycle, but as a symbol of freedom, exploration, and individuality. By aligning communication across digital media, events, influencer marketing, and community rides, the campaign aims to deepen brand engagement and long-term loyalty.

IMC OBJECTIVES (SMART OBJECTIVES INTEGRATED WITH AIDA MODEL)

The Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) objectives for Royal Enfield are designed to be Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-bound (SMART). The campaign follows the AIDA model (Awareness, Interest, Desire, Action) to guide consumers from brand exposure to purchase decision.

Campaign Time Period

Duration: 6 months
Product Focus: Royal Enfield Classic 350 (representative lifestyle motorcycle)
Target Market: Urban and semi-urban riders aged 22–35 years

1. Awareness Objective (A – Awareness)

Objective:
To increase brand awareness of Royal Enfield Classic 350 among the target audience.

SMART Goal:

- Increase brand recall by 25% among urban youth (22–35 years)
- Achieve within the first 2 months of the campaign

Img:9

Communication Tools Used:

- Social media advertising
- Influencer collaborations
- YouTube video ads
- Outdoor hoardings in metro cities

2. Interest Objective (I – Interest)

Objective:
To generate interest and curiosity about the Classic 350 as a lifestyle and touring motorcycle.

SMART Goal:

- Increase website visits and content engagement by 30%
- Generate at least 1 million video views related to the campaign
- Achieve within 3–4 months of the campaign period

Communication Tools Used:

- Storytelling-based digital videos
- Instagram Reels and Shorts
- Brand website content and blogs

- Rider experience stories

3. Desire Objective (D – Desire)

Objective:
To create desire and emotional attachment toward owning a Royal Enfield Classic 350.

SMART Goal:

- Improve positive brand perception by 20%
- Increase test ride inquiries by 15%
- Achieve within 5 months of campaign launch

Communication Tools Used:

- Influencer ride experiences
- User-generated content (#RoyalEnfieldRides)
- Community ride promotions
- Lifestyle-focused visual storytelling

4. Action Objective (A – Action)

Objective:
To convert desire into actual purchase or strong purchase intention.

SMART Goal:

- Increase bookings and sales of Classic 350 by 10–12%
- Generate 20% more test ride conversions
- Achieve by the end of the 6-month campaign

Communication Tools Used:

- Digital lead generation ads
- Dealer-level promotions
- Festival offers and finance schemes
- Retargeting ads and CRM follow-ups

Overall IMC Objective Summary

The IMC campaign aims to:

- Strengthen Royal Enfield's lifestyle positioning
- Build emotional engagement through storytelling

- Drive measurable growth in awareness, interest, desire, and sales

By integrating SMART objectives with the AIDA framework, the campaign ensures clear direction, measurable impact, and strategic alignment across all communication channels.

UNIQUE SELLING PROPOSITION (USP)

USP Statement (ONLY ONE)

"Royal Enfield doesn't sell motorcycles; it offers an authentic riding experience that turns every journey into a personal story of freedom, heritage, and belonging."

Consumer Proposition – "What's in it for me?"

When a consumer buys a Royal Enfield, they get:

- More than transportation — a meaningful riding experience
- A sense of identity and pride
- Membership in a global riding community
- A motorcycle that reflects individuality, freedom, and legacy

"If I buy a Royal Enfield, I don't just ride — I belong."

Img:10

Why This USP Is Strong & Defensible

- Heritage Advantage: Over 120 years of legacy that competitors cannot replicate
- Emotional Ownership: Deep emotional bond, not just functional usage
- Community Ecosystem: Rider Mania, Himalayan Odyssey, official riding clubs
- Lifestyle Positioning: Focus on storytelling and experience, not speed or mileage

Competitors may offer better features or performance, but they cannot authentically offer heritage + community + lifestyle together.

Why Consumers Will Choose Royal Enfield

- Because it represents who they are, not just what they ride
- Because it delivers experiences instead of specifications
- Because it offers belonging, pride, and authenticity

Img:11

This USP is powerful enough to:

- Influence brand preference
- Create emotional attachment
- Drive long-term loyalty

CREATIVE STRATEGY

The creative strategy defines how the brand's USP will be communicated to the target audience in a compelling and consistent manner across all IMC tools. For Royal Enfield, the creative strategy is built around emotional storytelling, heritage, and the idea of riding as a meaningful life experience.

1. Campaign Theme (Based on USP)

Campaign Theme: "Every Ride Has a Story"

This theme directly reflects Royal Enfield's USP of offering an authentic riding experience rather than just a motorcycle. The campaign emphasizes that every Royal Enfield rider's journey—whether short or long—becomes a personal story of freedom, self-discovery, and belonging.

Img:12

The theme:

- Highlights heritage and timelessness
- Celebrates individual journeys
- Strengthens the emotional bond between rider and brand
- Differentiates Royal Enfield from performance-driven competitors

2. Promotional Appeal

Primary Appeal: Emotional Appeal

The campaign primarily uses emotional appeal, focusing on:

- Freedom and independence
- Nostalgia and heritage
- Adventure and exploration
- Pride of ownership and community

Rather than emphasizing speed, mileage, or technical specifications, the campaign connects with consumers on a deeper emotional level, making the brand personally meaningful.

Supporting Rational Appeal (Secondary)

Although emotional appeal dominates, subtle rational elements are included:

- Strong build quality
- Reliable performance for long rides
- Comfortable riding posture
- Trust built over decades

This balance reassures consumers while keeping the focus on emotion.

3. Execution Technique

The campaign uses a combination of the following execution techniques:

a) Slice of Life

- Real-life riding situations such as:
  - Weekend road trips
  - Solo journeys for self-discovery
  - Group rides with friends

- Depicts how Royal Enfield naturally fits into the rider's lifestyle

b) Storytelling / Narrative Execution

- Short films and digital videos showing:
  - Personal journeys
  - Emotional milestones
  - Transformation through riding

This technique reinforces the idea that every ride tells a story.

c) Fantasy (Light Touch)

- Romanticized visuals of open highways, mountains, and unexplored roads
- Creates aspirational imagery that encourages viewers to imagine themselves riding

➢ Creative Tone & Style

- Tone: Authentic, inspiring, rugged
- Visual Style: Earthy colors, open landscapes, cinematic shots
- Language: Simple, powerful, and emotional
- Music: Calm, soulful background music enhancing emotional connect

➢ Creative Strategy Summary

The creative strategy positions Royal Enfield as:

- A companion in life's journeys
- A symbol of freedom and authenticity
- A story-driven lifestyle brand

By aligning the campaign theme, emotional appeal, and execution techniques with the USP, the creative strategy ensures strong differentiation, high recall, and deep consumer engagement.

IMC PROGRAM (ABOVE-THE-LINE & BELOW-THE-LINE)

The Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) program for Royal Enfield is designed to deliver a consistent brand message across multiple touchpoints. The program integrates both Above-the-Line (ATL) and Below-the-Line (BTL) communication tools to effectively reach, engage, and convert the target audience.

1. Advertising (ATL & Digital)

ATL Advertising

- Television commercials showcasing emotional riding stories
- Outdoor advertising (billboards, hoardings) in metro and Tier-1 cities
- Print ads in lifestyle, automobile, and travel magazines

Digital Advertising

- YouTube storytelling videos
- Instagram Reels, Facebook Ads
- Influencer-led digital content

Objective: Build awareness and emotional connection.

2. Packaging (BTL)

- Classic, heritage-inspired motorcycle design and color schemes
- Premium packaging for accessories and merchandise
- Eco-friendly packaging materials aligned with sustainability values

Objective: Reinforce premium and authentic brand image at the point of delivery.

3. Direct Marketing (BTL)

- Personalized emails and SMS campaigns
- App-based notifications for service, events, and offers
- Targeted WhatsApp marketing for test ride follow-ups

Objective: Create personalized engagement and drive action.

4. Public Relations (PR) (ATL + BTL)

- Press releases for new launches and community rides
- Media coverage of Himalayan Odyssey and Rider Mania
- CSR activities and environmental initiatives

Objective: Build credibility and positive brand image.

5. Personal Selling and E-Communications (BTL)

- Trained showroom sales executives focusing on experience selling
- One-on-one test ride interactions
- Virtual showroom tours and video consultations
- Chatbots and website assistance

Objective: Convert interest into purchase.

6. Sales Promotion (BTL)

- Festival offers (Diwali, Dussehra)
- Exchange offers for old bikes
- Easy EMI and finance schemes
- Free accessories or riding gear

Objective: Encourage immediate purchase decisions.

Img:13

7. Exhibitions and Trade Shows (ATL + BTL)

- Participation in Auto Expo and motorcycle expos
- Dedicated Royal Enfield experience zones
- Live bike displays and ride simulations

Objective: Enhance brand visibility and experiential marketing.

8. Sponsorship (ATL)

- Sponsorship of adventure events and biking festivals
- Collaboration with travel and adventure influencers
- Sponsorship of riding clubs and university biking events

Objective: Strengthen association with adventure and lifestyle.

IMC Program Summary Table (Optional for Project Impact)

| IMC Tool | ATL / BTL | Objective |
|---|---|---|
| Advertising | ATL + Digital | Awareness & Emotional Bond |
| Packaging | BTL | Premium Brand Experience |
| Direct Marketing | BTL | Personalised Communication |
| PR | ATL + BTL | Credibility & Trust |
| Personal Selling | BTL | Conversion |
| Sales Promotion | BTL | Purchase Push |
| Exhibitions | ATL + BTL | Experiential Engagement |
| Sponsorship | ATL | Lifestyle Association |

Conclusion

The IMC program ensures that Royal Enfield delivers a unified, emotional, and experience-driven message across all communication platforms. By integrating ATL and BTL activities, the campaign maximizes reach, engagement, and conversion while strengthening long-term brand loyalty.

ADVERTISING SCHEDULE (SAMPLE – IMC CAMPAIGN)

The advertising schedule outlines when, where, and how often the advertising activities will be executed during the campaign period. The schedule is designed to support the AIDA model by gradually moving consumers from awareness to action.

Campaign Duration

Total Period: 6 Months
Brand: Royal Enfield
Product Focus: Classic 350
Objective: Awareness → Interest → Desire → Action

Advertising Phases

Phase 1: Awareness Phase (Month 1–2)

Objective:
To create strong brand and campaign awareness among the target audience.

Media Used:

- Television commercials (prime time)
- YouTube ads
- Outdoor hoardings
- Print advertisements

Img:15

Frequency:

- TV: 4–5 times per day
- Digital video ads: High frequency
- Outdoor: Continuous display

Message Focus:

- Brand heritage
- Campaign theme: "Every Ride Has a Story"

Phase 2: Interest & Desire Phase (Month 3–4)

Objective:
To deepen engagement and create emotional desire for the brand.

Media Used:

- Instagram Reels and Stories

- Influencer content
- Brand website and blogs
- Digital storytelling videos

Frequency:

- Social media: Daily engagement
- Influencer posts: Weekly
- Website content updates: Bi-weekly

Message Focus:

- Rider stories

Sample Advertising Schedule Table

| Month | Phase | Media Vehicles | Objective |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | Awareness | TV, YouTube, Outdoor | Brand Awareness |
| 2 | Awareness | Print, Digital Video | Brand Recall |
| 3 | Interest | Social media, Influencers | Engagement |
| 4 | Desire | Storytelling Content | Emotional Connect |
| 5 | Action | Digital Leads, Dealers | Test Rides |
| 6 | Action | Promotions, Retargeting | Sales Conversion |

Scheduling Pattern Used

- Pulsing Strategy:
  Continuous brand presence with higher intensity during festivals and weekends.

This ensures:

- Sustained brand visibility
- Efficient budget utilization
- Maximum consumer recall

Conclusion

The advertising schedule is carefully planned to align with consumer decision-making stages and IMC objectives. By following a phased and pulsing approach, Royal Enfield ensures consistent brand communication while maximizing engagement and conversion.

PROMOTION BUDGET

The promotion budget determines the amount of money allocated for various IMC activities. For Royal Enfield, the promotion budget is planned using multiple budgeting approaches to ensure efficiency, competitiveness, and goal achievement.

1. Affordable Method

Under the affordable method, Royal Enfield allocates the promotion budget based on what the company can afford after covering operational and production expenses.

Application to Royal Enfield:

- Suitable due to Royal Enfield's strong financial position
- Ensures promotional spending does not affect profitability
- Mostly used for community events, rider meets, and digital content

Limitation:
May not be aggressive enough during high-competition periods.

2. Percentage of Sales Method

In this method, the promotion budget is calculated as a fixed percentage of sales revenue.

Application to Royal Enfield:

- Royal Enfield typically allocates 5–7% of its annual sales revenue to promotional activities
- Provides budget stability and simplicity
- Links promotion spending directly with performance

Advantage:
Easy to calculate and financially safe.

Disadvantage:
Does not consider market opportunities or competition intensity.

3. Competitive Promotion Budgeting

Under competitive promotion budgeting, Royal Enfield sets its promotion budget by matching or exceeding competitor spending.

Application to Royal Enfield:

- Competitors: Honda CB350, Jawa, Harley-Davidson X440
- Royal Enfield maintains comparable or higher promotional visibility
- Helps protect market share in the mid-size motorcycle segment

Advantage:

Prevents loss of brand visibility.

Limitation:

Assumes competitors know the ideal budget.

4. Objective and Task Method (Most Scientific Method)

This is the most logical and preferred method, where the promotion budget is set based on IMC objectives and required tasks.

Steps Followed:

1. Define IMC objectives (Awareness, Interest, Desire, Action)
2. Identify tasks needed to achieve objectives
3. Estimate cost for each task
4. Total cost becomes the promotion budget

Application to Royal Enfield:

- Digital advertising
- Influencer collaborations
- Events and sponsorships
- Dealer promotions

Advantage:

Ensures budget effectiveness and accountability.

Sample Promotion Budget Allocation (Illustrative)

| IMC Activity | % Allocation |
|---|---|
| Advertising (ATL + Digital) | 40% |
| Sales Promotion | 20% |
| Digital & Influencer Marketing | 15% |
| Events & Sponsorships | 15% |
| PR & Direct Marketing | 10% |
| Total | 100% |

Conclusion

Royal Enfield uses a combination of promotion budgeting methods to ensure flexibility, competitiveness, and goal orientation. Among all methods, the objective and task method is the most effective as it directly aligns promotional spending with IMC goals and campaign outcomes.

EVALUATION OF IMC PROGRAM

Evaluation is a critical step in the Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) process, as it measures the effectiveness, impact, and ROI of all campaign activities. For Royal Enfield, evaluation ensures that the campaign achieves its SMART objectives and supports the brand positioning.

1. Purpose of Evaluation

- To determine if IMC objectives are met
- To measure consumer engagement and response
- To assess the effectiveness of ATL and BTL activities
- To guide future campaigns and optimize resource allocation

2. Key Performance Indicators (KPIs)

Awareness (AIDA – Awareness Stage)

- Metrics:
  - Increase in brand recall (% of target audience remembering Royal Enfield)
  - Reach and impressions of digital campaigns
  - Footfall in stores during promotional period
- Tools:
  - Surveys & brand tracking studies
  - Social media analytics
  - Google Analytics (website traffic)

Interest (AIDA – Interest Stage)

- Metrics:
  - Engagement on social media (likes, shares, comments, video views)
  - Website visits and content downloads
  - Number of inquiries for test rides
- Tools:
  - Social media insights
  - Email click-through rates (CTR)
  - CRM tracking

Desire (AIDA – Desire Stage)

- Metrics:
  - Increase in positive brand sentiment and perception
  - Number of followers joining Royal Enfield communities
  - Participation in events and community rides
- Tools:
  - Customer feedback surveys
  - Event attendance records
  - Sentiment analysis on social media

Action (AIDA – Action Stage)

- Metrics:
  - Test ride bookings
  - Actual motorcycle sales

- Conversion rate from leads to purchases

- Tools:
  - Dealer sales reports
  - Digital lead tracking systems
  - Promo code redemption analytics

3. Evaluation of Specific IMC Elements

| IMC Tool | Evaluation Method |
|---|---|
| Advertising (TV, Digital, Print) | Reach, frequency, impressions, recall surveys |
| Direct Marketing | Open rate, CTR, response rate |
| PR | Media coverage, press mentions, brand sentiment |
| Personal Selling | Test ride conversions, customer feedback |
| Sales Promotion | Redemption rate, incremental sales |
| Exhibitions / Trade Shows | Attendee count, engagement, lead generation |
| Sponsorship | Brand visibility, social media mentions, event engagement |

4. Feedback and Learning

- What Worked:
  - Emotional storytelling increased engagement and desire
  - Community events strengthened brand loyalty
  - Social media and influencer campaigns improved awareness among youth
- Areas to Improve:
  - Conversion from interest to action can be optimized with better follow-ups and CRM tools
  - More localized campaigns in Tier-2 cities for higher penetration

FINDINGS

The findings are based on the detailed analysis of Royal Enfield's brand position, target market, consumer behaviour, competitive environment, and the proposed Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) strategy. The major findings of the study are as follows:

1. Strong Brand Heritage and Identity
   Royal Enfield enjoys a powerful brand image rooted in heritage, legacy, and authenticity, which creates a strong emotional connection with consumers and differentiates it from competitors.
2. High Emotional Engagement Among Consumers
   Consumers associate Royal Enfield with freedom, adventure, and individuality rather than just functional benefits like speed or mileage.
3. Clear and Well-Defined Target Market
   The primary target audience consists of young adults aged 22–35 years who are lifestyle-oriented, experience-driven, and influenced by digital and community-based marketing.
4. Strong Brand Loyalty and Community Influence
   Royal Enfield riders show high brand loyalty and actively participate in riding clubs, events, and brand communities, acting as brand ambassadors.
5. Effective Use of Emotional Advertising
   Advertising strategies based on emotional storytelling and real-life riding experiences are more effective than feature-based or price-driven promotions.
6. Digital Media as a Key Engagement Platform
   Social media, influencer marketing, and digital video platforms play a crucial role in creating awareness, interest, and desire among younger consumers.
7. Competitive Advantage Through USP
   Royal Enfield's USP of offering an authentic riding experience and lifestyle cannot be easily replicated by competitors, giving the brand a sustainable competitive advantage.
8. Integrated ATL and BTL Communication Is Essential
   A combination of ATL tools (advertising, sponsorships) and BTL tools (events, direct marketing, personal selling) ensures consistent messaging and higher campaign effectiveness.
9. Objective-Based Budgeting Is Most Effective
   The objective and task method of promotion budgeting aligns spending directly with communication goals and improves accountability and return on investment.
10. Continuous Evaluation Improves Campaign Performance
    Regular monitoring and evaluation of IMC activities help identify gaps, optimize strategies, and enhance overall campaign outcomes.

SUGGESTIONS ON IMC FOR BETTER SALES

Based on the findings of the study, the following suggestions are proposed to improve the effectiveness of Royal Enfield's Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) strategy and drive higher sales performance:

1. Strengthen Digital-First IMC Approach

Royal Enfield should further strengthen its digital presence by:

- Increasing investment in social media and video platforms
- Using short-form content such as Reels and Shorts
- Leveraging influencer collaborations for wider reach

This will help convert brand awareness into purchase intent, especially among younger consumers.

2. Enhance Emotional Storytelling with Sales Triggers

While emotional storytelling is effective, it should be supported by:

- Clear call-to-action messages (Book a Test Ride, Visit Showroom)
- Limited-period offers integrated into emotional campaigns

This balance will help bridge the gap between desire and action.

3. Focus on Experiential Marketing for Conversion

Royal Enfield should:

- Organize more local test ride events and community rides
- Offer experiential zones in showrooms
- Conduct weekend ride programs in Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities

Experiential engagement directly increases purchase confidence and sales conversion.

4. Improve Dealer-Level IMC Integration

- Align dealer communication with national campaigns
- Train sales executives to sell experience, not features
- Use digital tools for faster follow-ups and lead conversion

Strong dealer IMC support can significantly improve closing rates.

5. Personalized Direct Marketing Communication

- Use CRM data to send personalized offers and reminders
- Promote accessories and riding gear as bundled offers

- Target repeat buyers and loyal customers for upgrades

Personalized communication increases repeat sales and customer lifetime value.

6. Leverage Community and Brand Advocates

- Encourage user-generated content from riders
- Reward loyal riders for referrals
- Promote rider clubs as brand ambassadors

Community-driven IMC enhances trust and word-of-mouth sales.

7. Optimize IMC Budget Allocation Based on Performance

- Shift budget towards high-performing digital channels
- Reduce low-impact traditional media spending
- Regularly evaluate ROI of each IMC tool

This ensures cost efficiency and higher sales returns.

8. Strengthen Sponsorships and Strategic Partnerships

- Partner with travel, adventure, and lifestyle brands
- Sponsor youth-oriented and adventure events
- Collaborate with universities and riding communities

This increases brand visibility among potential buyers.

CONCLUSION

This project concludes that Royal Enfield has successfully positioned itself as a lifestyle-oriented and emotionally driven motorcycle brand rather than merely a mode of transportation. Through strong heritage, community engagement, and experiential marketing, the brand has created a unique and defensible identity in the competitive mid-size motorcycle segment.

The detailed situation analysis, consumer evaluation, and competitive assessment reveal that Royal Enfield's core strength lies in its emotional connection with consumers, high brand loyalty, and well-defined target market. The study also highlights that modern consumers value experience, freedom, and individuality, which aligns perfectly with Royal Enfield's brand philosophy and USP.

The proposed Integrated Marketing Communication (IMC) plan, based on the AIDA model, demonstrates how coordinated use of advertising, digital media, public relations, sales promotion, and experiential marketing can effectively guide consumers from awareness to purchase. The creative strategy focused on emotional storytelling, supported by rational cues, enhances brand recall and purchase intention.

Furthermore, the evaluation of the IMC program indicates that integrated ATL and BTL activities, along with objective-based budgeting and continuous performance measurement, are essential for improving sales and sustaining long-term brand growth.

In conclusion, Royal Enfield can continue to strengthen its market leadership by maintaining consistent, emotionally engaging, and digitally integrated communication strategies. A strong focus on community building, experiential marketing, and data-driven evaluation will ensure higher sales performance, deeper customer relationships, and sustainable competitive advantage in the future.
